Election Year is Upon Us

Written by Richard Schneider

November 5, 2024, is Election Day and with only days left to vote: Have you checked to make sure you are registered to vote and that all your information is correct? There are federal, state, and local government websites that will provide you with all your voter registration information. You can also check in person with local officials to ensure your information, too.

Have you prepared to vote? Reading and researching ballot measures, candidates, and other issues specific to your local elections is an important part of making sure your vote counts the way you want. We are often so wrapped up in our daily lives that we just fill in the little circle with what we feel might be correct, without fully reading the information. Or we hurry through because we feel the pressure of lines on voting day and panic. Check if you have your ID and the address of your voting location before you leave the house. Can you vote early or with a mail in ballot? Knowing all the information will help you save time and stress when voting.

Voting is important, and sometimes we do not believe our vote will change anything and so, why do it? Remember we are blessed to have our rights as United States citizens, and if we do not continue to use these rights and fight to protect these rights, you may wake up one day and find them gone. Do your part and VOTE!
